RIVALRY OF DEATH.

A writer says: "We spent some days in Peoria, Ill., the whisky metropolis of the world. We had a good opportunity to study the bloody business in its hideous aspects. Here human beings vie one with another breeding plagues and torments, and rival each other in multiplying the misfortunes of humanity. One of the leading citizens of this rum-sodden city said to us that his only or highest ambition was to erect the biggest distillery on earth and make more whisky than any other man in the world. He said his greatest anxiety was to get men enough to drink his whisky; that he would have his own way in spite of God and humanity, and outstrip every rival in the rum business if he could, and then, in a dying hour, jump the fence into eternity."

Remember that Justin Ogle and Misses Sadie Bull and Daisy Moore are to be the chief attractions at the Ocala Temperance Reform Club, temperance hall, tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock, and don't forget to be there if you don't want to miss a treat.

Some men ask God to guide them at the prayer meeting and let the devil guide them when they vote. Truly backbone is needed in politics as well as religion.

Everett, Ga., a small village of 75 inhabitants, affords one general merchandise store, no church, and two saloons.

The miser's idea of heaven is a barrel of gold and a famine; the drunkards, a barrel of whisky and a large cup.

God alone knows what heaven misses when a boy gets started wrong.

DIED.

Miss Nona Meeker, aged 18, daughter of Capt. W. H. Meeker, of the Homosassa mail route, died at her father's house in Homosassa yesterday evening of malarial fever, after an illness of about two weeks.

The body was brought up on this morning's train by the sorrowing father, mother and sister, and was buried in the new cemetery between 10 and 11 o'clock this morning. Rev. J. G. Law read the burial service.

The mourning family and friends have the heartfelt sympathies of the people.

BEFORE JUDGE BROOME.

Executors of John F. Dunn Estate vs. the Ocala Company.

A suit was brought before Judge Broome in Chambers this week from the Fifth Circuit, Judge Hocker of the Fifth being disqualified and the case being transferred to this, the Seventh Circuit.

The case was that of the executors of the John F. Dunn estate of Marion county, vs. the Ocala company et al., and involving the foreclosure and sale of the Ocala house property, valued at $65,000. The main issue was over a note for $22,500 given by the owners of the Ocala House to E. W. Agnew, and which had been transferred and assigned several times. Judge Broome granted the foreclosure and the parties interested in the note have agreed to meet in Ocala Friday and settle that difference among themselves.

Col. E. P. Allen and ex-Chief Justice Rainey were attorneys for the complainants, and Messrs. Foster, Green, Anderson and Arleans for the defendants.
